The image shows the front cover of a book. The cover is a dark, mottled brown color with a fine, woven texture, characteristic of cloth or buckram binding. There are subtle variations in tone and some minor wear or discoloration across the surface, particularly towards the edges. The spine of the book is visible on the left side, showing a similar texture and color. The overall appearance is that of an old, well-used volume.

A close-up photograph of a brown, textured surface, possibly the cover of a book or a folder. The texture is a fine, woven pattern, characteristic of bookbinding cloth or a similar material. The color is a uniform, slightly mottled brown. There are no titles, logos, or other markings visible on this portion of the surface.

The image shows a close-up of a dark brown, textured surface, which appears to be the cover of an old book. The texture is grainy and uneven, with some areas showing more wear and discoloration than others. The color is a deep, mottled brown, suggesting a material like cloth or leatherette. There are no titles, logos, or other markings visible on this portion of the cover.

The image shows a close-up of a dark brown, textured surface, which appears to be the cover of an old book. The texture is grainy and uneven, with some lighter and darker patches of brown, suggesting wear, age, or the material's natural grain. There are no titles, logos, or other markings visible on this portion of the cover.

A dark, textured surface, possibly a book cover or endpaper, with a fine, repeating pattern. The texture appears to be a woven fabric or a similar material, with a dark, mottled color. The pattern is consistent across the entire surface, with no visible text or other markings.

Wash care instructions need to be followed for prolonged usage of fabric, otherwise will damage the fabric. Test results were gathered from various samples and therefore represent average indicative values. Discolouration caused by clothing fabrics such as jeans does not represent a material defect. Minor colour deviations & discolouring in context of permissible industrial tolerance standards.
